Main Body:

Telesoft Technologies (telesoft-technologies.com) an independent global provider of cyber security products have today announced their sponsorship of Black Hat Europe 2017 and will be both exhibiting (Stand 903, Business Hall) and presenting at the conference in London from December the 4th to 7th 2017. Telesoft will be talking about and demonstrating the very latest in next generation hyper scale network security solutions which enable organisations to effectively protect their networks and subscribers.

This year the CERNE Open IDS Platform has been selected as one of Black Hats 2017 highly anticipated network defence Arsenal tools. Telesoft's Steve Patton, Head of Sales and Marketing will be presenting on Thursday December 7th from 11:45am – 1:20pm in the Business Hall at Arsenal Station 1. Steve's presentation will cover today's malware, the ingenious techniques used to evade standard detection and a new breed of powerful IDS solutions to integrate in to a multi-layered cyber security strategy.

Visit the Telesoft stand (903) in the main Business Hall for live product demonstrations, professional network security tips and advice plus a cold beer to take the edge off of a busy day at the show. See for yourself why the world's largest network operators and data centre warehouses trust Telesoft's highly scalable network visibility tools for incident response, traffic capture and threat detection in real time, at scale, in networks running at multiples of 100Gbps.
